Hi

This is Satya Mallick from LearnOpenCV.com

I have been blogging for more than 2 years now! During these years I have realized that I really love teaching. So, instead of taking on lucrative consulting gigs to completely fill up my time, I chose to blog and share ideas. Blogging has become a very fulfilling part of my life.

Recently, I have freed up more of my time to devote to a course titled "Computer Vision for Faces". It is a short (6 - 8 week) course designed to make you, the reader, a practical expert in Computer Vision technologies for human faces. I have no intention of creating a course in a vacuum. For me, it is super important to know what people want in a course and how they intend to use this knowledge in practice.

So, I need your help and advice! If you fill out this short questionnaire, it will help me a lot.

You can also reply to this email to suggest ideas. I'm all ears.

Thanks and have a wonderful week ahead!

Satya
